

Civic Leadership Minor

The minor in Civic Leadership is an interdisciplinary program that introduces students to the foundational questions of civic life. Civic Leadership minors will think in deep and nuanced ways by having wrestled with the great questions and works of the Western tradition. Students pursuing this minor will study the American constitutional tradition and then choose four lower or upper division courses in Civics. These courses explore perennial debates in civic thought, American institutions, and free societies, as well as the fundamental ideas of Western Civilization.
